MyFig Project

The 2 median islands on Figueroa Street at USC McCarthy Way are scheduled to be removed very soon, possibly as early as this week. The plan is to first install 2 changeable message signs (1 in each direction) that will warn drivers of the upcoming construction the following week.

This work will be done within a maximum 72-hr timeframe - hopefully less - and require overnight lane closures of each lane adjacent to the median islands. In order to maintain 2 lanes of south-bound traffic, all parking will have to be restricted on the west side of Figueroa between Jefferson and Exposition. Northbound will still have 2 or 3 lanes of traffic depending on the parking restriction at any given time and shouldn't be as affected.

In the 2-3 weeks following, Metro expects to begin the more major work, including installation of the bus platform islands - the plan is to always maintain 2 lanes of through traffic in each direction due to high traffic volumes, however this will likely result in restrictions on street parking and on some turning movements at some locations.
